Working with David and Adam of Impulse Productions was a pleasure. They approached every task we gave them with a refreshingly optimistic outlook. One attribute that I was impressed with was the fact that if Impulse felt they could not accurately accomplish an aspect of the event, they were honest and upfront about their abilities. I have found working with other event planning companies; they oversell you on their ability to accomplish everything and anything. Each part of the event that Impulse was responsible for was tackled with flawless execution which is always a pleasant surprise. I was never nervous about the outcome of the events I planned with Impulse because of their hard work ethic and strong relationships throughout the entertainment industry. Another added bonus was the staff that Impulse employs is very approachable and my employees were always greeted by promptness and a great smile. Not only would I recommend Impulse's Corporate Event Planning services but I look forward to working with them in the near future as well.
